The Steamer on Being Refuse Clearance Papers Departs without Them-Another Chance for Diplomacy.

By Telegraph to The Times. NEW YORK, Aug. 11 .- (By the Asso ciated Press.] The superintendent of Pacific Mail Steamship Company was advised today by the company's agent agent also stated that the cargo had been discharged at La Libertad and the commandante at the port refused to dispatch the vessel.

Vice-President Houston of the Pacific Mail Company said this afternoon that he had received a dispatch stating that the City of Panama had been seized and detained at La Libertad by the authorities of Salvador because there were political refugees on board. The details are very meagre, the dispatch having evidently been edited with great care by the Salvador officials. Gen. Latona is a passenger on the City of Panama. He is a political refugee bound from Corcinto. Nicaragua, to San José de Guatemala. How this concerns Salvadoreans is not stated, but they demanded his sur-render at La Union. Capt. White refused to comply with the order, and the commandante of the port refused him clearance papers. He sailed without them, telegraphing information to the agent at Panama, who advised him to make the port of San José de Guatemala direct, fearing the wrath of President Ezeta, who has an armed force at Aca Jutala. Capt. White no doubt had to stop at Capt. White no doubt had to stop at La Libertad to let off passengers. There he was told that his ship would be confiscated unless he gave up five political refugees whose names are not given. He again refused to deliver up the men, who were under the protection of the American flag, and he was not allowed to proceed on his way. Nothing further has been heard from Capt. White. Insurgents Receive a Big Cargo of Arms - Minister Egan Denounced by the Congressional Press.

By Telegraph to The Times. LONDON, Aug. 11 .- By Cable and Associated Press. | Cable dispatches from a Balmacedan source in Santiago de Chile are received here denying reports that fighting took place between government troops and insurgent forces at Valparaiso and Coquimbo August 3.

According to these dispatches, the government torpedo boat Almirante Condell attacked the Congressional party's cruiser Esmeralda and a number of transports at Caldera. A num-ber of torpedos were discharged from the Almirante Condell, but as the at-tack was made at night, and it was very dark, the results are not known. The dispatches further state that reports as to the relations between Chile and Bolivia, growing out of the latter's recognition of the insurgent as belligerents, are untrue, and that the stories of cruel punishments inflicted by the government are pure inventions.

INSURGENTS HOPEFUL. CHICAGO, Aug. 11.-An Iquique correspondent has been over the whole Congressional field within the last two days, and is astonished at the great change for the better which has taken by large accessions of volunteers from the mining districts of Antofagasta and Caldera. The utmost unanimity prevails among the leaders of the Con-ers, his foes will, unless all appearances are deceptive, gain a substantial advantage over him. There is no doubt that there are many unwilling soldiers in the Balmacedan ranks men forced to serve against their will.

Many of them at heart are in sympathy with the insurgent cause. It will not take much to put them to flight.

REBELS HAVE PLENTY OF ARMS. PANAMA, Aug. 11.—A dispatch from Iquique says: "The Congressional steam transport Maipo brought a large supply of munitions of war, including seventy-five Krupp guns of different calibre and 12,000 magazine rifles with a plentiful supply of ammunition. It s not known where they were em-

The correspondent at Tsing Kiang writes under date of June 27 that the viceroy wrote to officials here that the residences of foreigners should be searched to see if they had any babies or dead people's bodies about. The Presbyterian mission was searched by officers, while a crowd of excited naofficers, while a crowd of excited natives waited outside. The mob broke into the Catholic mission, but were put out by the occupants, Mr. Chalfant holding the rioters at bay with a rewolver. The authorities finally sent military to the scene, and the soldiers guarded the mission all night.

On July 4, news came by telegraph from the southern part of the province from the southern part of the province of serious rioting. In this section the Catholics have large property interests, many fine churches and a large orphanage. Several of these have been destroyed by the mob. At Fucheufu the rioters wrecked an outhouse, entered a church and the priests' house and sacked everything, but did not burn the buildings. The amount of danger the buildings. The amount of damage done is not known, but it is learned that the orphanage was not injured. Soldiers were ordered out and patrol the streets all night, guarding the church property. The town is now left without a gunboat, and a feeling of uncaping propagate.

A telegram from Tien Tsen states that the French and British ministers in China have opened negotiations with Tsungli Yamen in regard to their claim for indemnity on account of the recent riots. The sum claimed is 6,500,000 taels.

THE CHARLESTON'S ORDERS.

She Will Start for China in a Few Days.
VALLEJO, Aug. 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The Charleston has been ordered to Yokohama, and will leave here August 18. She will go on the dock at Mare Island and be given a new coat of paint. She is ordered to Shanghai after touching at Yokohama, owing to the troubles at points along the Vangate troubles at points along the Yangste Kiang River. The old warship Monocacy is the only ship in those waters in service. Sea stores are being taken on the Charleston for the voyage, and a full complement of men went on board the ship yesterday from the barracks and receiving ship. Her engines were to be completely overhauled, but this is postponed owing to the peremotory character of the pres-

the peremptory character of the present orders. WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.-Navy Department officials say the statement published that the Mohican has been ordered from Bering Sea to China is incorrect. The Mohican will remain in the sea until the season closes, after which she will return to San Francisco. The department con-siders it important to retain there the vessels now in Bering Sea until the sealing season closes, and it is not probable that any of them will be re-

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued at the County Clerk's office yesterday to the fol-

County Cierk's onice yesterday to the following persons:

Edgar W. Metcalf, a native of Iowa, 20 years of age, to Bessle Lee, a native of Indiana, 18 years of age, both residents of this city.

William B. Stewart, a native of Pennsylvania, 31 years of age, residing at Ontarie, to Mary E. Smith, a native of Missouri, 19 years of age, residing at Santa Paula.

Its Excellent Qualities

as to the shot holes in the book, chair and counter.

A. N. Leland, the station agent at Lancaster, testified briefly to the effect that Crane came to his house, which is two doors, north of the saloon, on the night of July 14, and said that he had been shot. The witness and a man named Holland dressed his injuries, which consisted of gunshot wounds in the breast and hands.

S. B. Owens, a Ventura farmer, who was at Laucaster on the night of the shooting, stated that Mayes, Van Orden, Morris, Kitchline and himself were all sitting and standing outside of the saloon, Crane being inside, just prior to the shooting. When Mayes and Kitchline left to go over to the depot, Morris and Van Orden were outside the butcher shop next door to the saloon, and the witness strolled over to the hotel. Just as he reached the hotel, he beard two shots and ran back to Leland's house where he saw Crane, who was bleeding from wounds in his breast and arms. Shortly afterward he heard Kitchline talking to Morris, when the latter said that at the time of the shooting he was at a woman's house looking after some things. Morris then wore a black hat, dark clothes and white shirt.

J. C. Kitchline corroborated the testimony of the witnesses who preceded him; and after some further corroborative testimony in the same line the case went over until this morning.

More Light on the Burns Divorce Suit.

THE TRUE FACTS OF THE CASE

The Defendant Has a Straight Decree from the Nebraska Courts -Charged with Forgery-New Suits.

On Friday afternoon last, the first legal document to be filed in the new quarters of the County Clerk was presented by Mrs. Sarah A. Burns in the shape of a lengthy document, which turned out to be the complaint in a suit for divorce. The woman appeared for herself although the name of James W. Caldwell had originally appeared in the document as her attorney, but was erased. The plaintiff in this suit claimed that her husband w.s. J. Frank Burns, ex-Chief of Police of this city and the burden of her complaint was that he had deserted her and was living in open and notorious adultery with a Mrs. Hill. She also desired to obtain some $17,000 worth of property, in which she claimed an interest.

As Mr. Burns was spending his vacation As Mr. Burns was spending his vacation with his family at Coronado, his side of the story could not be obtained; but on his return yesterday afternoon a Times reporter found him perusing the document filed by his former wire at the County Clerk's office. Acting under the advice of his attorneys, Messrs. Brunson, Wilson and Lamme, Mr. Burns refused to be interviewed on the subject, merely remerking that those who knew him were cognizant of the true facts in the case. When pressed, however, to impart some information for the benefit of those who were not so fortunate, Mr. Burns handed the reporter the following documents which speak for themselves. Court Journal, Brown county, Oatober 14, 1886—James F. Burns vs. Sarah A. Burns et al.—Decree.

Now, on this 14th day of October, 1886, the same being the first day of the special October term of this court, this cause came on for hearing, plaintiff appearing personally, and by Holmes & White his attorneys, detendant, Sarah A. SIMPSON SOCIAL.

The basement of Simpson Tabernacle was brilliantly illuminated last evening, was brilliantly illuminated last evening, and well filled with the members and friends of the church who gathered to enjoy the monthly social which is such a p-easant feature of this society. Tables were spread, and ice-cream, cake, sandwiches and lemonade made a tempting bill of fare for the warm summer night. Previous to the serving of the refreshments the audience was entertained by several banjo selections, skilfully played by Miss Pearl Gleason, and two recitations given by Prof. Hough—one humorous and the other that deeply pathetic poem of Will Carleton's—"The First Settler." Col. J. H. Woodard was master of ceremonies, and introduced the speaker and musician in his usual happy vein, his own remarks causing considerable amusement. Altogether, the social was a most delightful affair.

Not a word was ever heard from Giddings until Sunday last, when Chief Moore gos a letter from him, saying that he had just seen an account of his "disappearance" in a Cincinnail paper. Giddings is now at Mainville, Warren county, O., and is just recovering from a long speil of sickness. He writes that he had been drinking heavily for some time before leaving Lot Angeles, and has but a dim recollection of the circumstances under which he fook his departure. He was then prostrated with typhoid pneumonia, and is just recovering from the effects of the disease. Giddings writes to Chief Moore to pay his board out of his w ges that he left here, and that if that is not sufficient to write and teil him the amount and he will remit. Giddings says he is thankful he is not dead, but says he had a very narrow escape.

A MISSING AGENT.

People Victimized on the "Loan" Proposition.

There are quite a number of people in Los Angeles and vicinity who would very much like to see one H. F. Albers, but it is hardly likely that their wish will ever be gratified. Albers figured in Los Angeles as the graval agent of the Renters' Coopas the state of the Renters' Coopas the state of the Renters' Coopas to suffering humanity. For sale by H. Jevne, 156 and 138 N. office of which is given as No. 124 Sansome street. San Francisco, rooms 25 and 26. Albers took desk room in a First street real-estate office, and is believed to have made a pretty good thing of "nesotiating loans" that never materialized, beyond the agent collecting his commissions, which were always payable in advance. But one person has so far made the fact that he was victimized public. This gentieman lives in Pomona, and paid Albers $140 to negotiate a loan with his company. After waiting a reasonable time, and the matter not turning out as represented, the victim started out to look up Albers, but found that he had left the city and that his whereabouts were unknown. The main office was then communicated with, and in due course of time the following letter was received, which fully explains itself:

"San Firancisco, July 27, 1891. A Number of Victims in Los Angeles
—Probable Losses.

The telegraphic reports yesterday morning of the sensational disclosures concerning the "National Capital Savings, Building and Loan Association of Nerth America, and Loan Association of North America, which resulted in the arrest of the officers at Chicago Monday on a charge ôf using the mais for fraudulent purposes, have considerable local interest for Los Angeles, for the reason that several well-known firms of this city are among the victims. It is said that one of the members of the Baker Iron Works was caught for $500, and that Mr. Meyburg of the Crystal Paiace was also taken in for several hundred dollars. The company had an agent here for some weeks, but he suddenly left, hanging a placard on his door that he would return, but up to the present time he has failed to materialize. While in Los Angeles the agent exhibited what purported to be reports from mercantile agencies indorsing the concern, and stated that he did a good butiness. It is impossible to give even an approximate estimate of the losses in this city, but they will probably reach $5000 to $6000. ing letter was received, which fully explains itself:

"San Francisco, July 27, 1891.

"Dear Sir: Your letter of the 23d inst, at hand and contents generally noted. We agree with you, it would be good policy to require bonds from agents, general or other, if they could be obtained, but our experience is that it is very hard to secure agents without bonds.

"While the public is not supposed to be aware of our instructions to agents, they are supposed to know that corporations are not responsible for the acts of their agents, other than those acts authorized by the corporation. Were it otherwise, a corporation would have no protection. Hence our inability to render you any relief in this matter. Yours truly,

A DERELICT COMPANY.

Acting on the report of the City Attorney, presented on Monday, the Council will probably be able to make a beginning in the solution of the vexed water question, particularly as relates to the service of the Citizens Water Company. In answer to interrogatories propounded by the Council, the City Attorney's report is as folcondemn the Chizens' water works under the law of eminent domain.

Answer: It has that power.

Question: Can the city purchase or lease the said water works, and if so by what methods other than by agreement with the company?

Answer: It can purchase or lease, but not otherwise than by agreement with the company.

Question; Can the city compel said water company to furnish pipe, hydrants,

Answer: No.
While ccording to the terms of the While scording to the terms of the lease of this company it is required to furnish sufficient water and hydrants, the only remedy the city has is to forfeit its franchise for failure to do so. This lease also provides that in case notice has not been given to sever the same the city may purch se the works of the company; but as the city has given formal notice to terminate the lease this proviso is inoperative. In my opinion the cheapest and quiexest way to acquire the works of this company is by condemnation. While upon this subject I desire to call the Council's attention to the fact that the City Water Company is refusing to comply with the terms of the ordinance adopted by the Council for this year and that I have been informed by an officer of that company that they will refuse to be bound by the rates established by the ordinance. I am in receipt of complaints ordinance. I am in receipt of complaints every day in regard to the matter, and as we have already instituted suit against the Citizens' Water Company to forfeit its works by reason of overcharging. I think we should also institute suit against the City Water Company for the same reason.

This report was referred to a Comnittee of the Whole and will doubtless purpose to fall upon the commissary be taken up and discussed at a special session.

There seems to be abundant justification for the course outlined by the City edited this morning by Mr. Harris and Attorney with respect to the Citizens' Water Company. The business of supplying water for domestic consumption is in the nature of a public trust. Not only were certain obligations stated and implied in the original franchise from the city, allowing the use of streets for the pipes of the company, and certain other privi-leges, but these obligations were reinforced by the subsequent lease to the company by the city of a water supply. In this case the city furnishes free, or practically free, to to the company by the city of a water supply. In this case the city water supply. In this case the city furnishes free, or practically free, to the company about one hundred inches of water, which, at the current valuation of $1000 an inch, would represent an investment of $100.000. The city also allows the use of streets for the mains, which privilege is undoubtedly worth something, but for which no specific charge is made. The only of figured at what it is really worth in the company is a heavy loss. His place is now taken by it. The only returns exacted for these valuable concessions are:

First-That the company shall furaish to its consumers an abundant supply of pure water.

Second-That it shall charge therefor rates fixed by the Council. Tuird-That it shall furnish water for the extinguishment of fires and for street sprinkling purposes free of charge. Fourth-That it shall place hydrants designated by the city.

The fact is, that, while accepting the full benefits of all the concessions adequate, so that the water, which is pure enough and abundant enough at consumers, and is also short in quantity. pany has always exceeded

In the matter of charges, the comchedule fixed, and has repeatedly refused to conform to the mandates of the Council in this respect. In furnishing water for fires, the company has been derelict both in the matter of placing hydrants and providing an adequate supply, so that several valuable buildings have been destroyed for the want of water. It is not in reason, law, good gov ernment or human endurance that such a jug-handle proposition (with a short supply of poor water in the jug) should long endure.

It is high time that the city government arise in its strength and demand a forfeiture of the contract. The alternative of compliance has been urged virtue, and now there is absolutely no

It is stated that in the $55,000 in bonds held by the Ruddock estate, not a dollar of interest has ever been paid. Yet it is certain that these bonds represent $55,000 in good money invested in the enterprise.

There seems reason to believe that there has not only been bad faith with the city in the matter of furnishing a water supply, but that there has been had faith with the bondholders as well. If the works now pay a net revenue of $20,000 a year, they undoubtedly paid more during the boom years.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE -In witnessing a performance given by the Lyceum Theater Company there must always be one feeling existing, quite independent of any opinion about the merits of the play, and that is the feeling of perfect security in the players themselves. One knows that no matter what any one of the characters may be paid more during the boom years. This should have allowed the company not only to pay interest on its indebtedness, but to improve the service, keeping it commensurate with the growing demands of the community. Had this been done, some of the minor shortcomings and misdeeds of the company would have been overlooked and there would have been no serious trouble.

To a man up a tree it looks as though the Citizens' Water Company has been operated for revenue only; that the Citizens' Water Company has been operated for revenue only; that the bondholders have not uniformly been the beneficiaries.

Herbert Kelcey, posing as an Episcopal clergyman, does not suggest at first thought a happy realiz tion of the fitness of things, and it would be no disgrace to the matthée idol if he failed to convey a striking image of a character so completely out of his acknowledged line. It is therefore a double honer to him that he sustains the difficult character with an ease and dignity that do credit alike to the cloth and to his own profession. In the scene with his brother in the third act where he prevalls upon him after a stormy scene to right the wrong, as far as possible, done to the woman he had betrayed, Mr. Kelcey played with juncommon fire and energy, extracting from his audience generous applause.

Jo Blackburn has had no disaster. He is right on top. At the last Demo-cratic convention in May he was the Success of the Government Experileader. He fought on one side, leading the adherents of silver coinage, and denounced the opinion that the silver letter of ex-President Clevehand had completely obliterated him as a factor, or the possi-bility of the National Convention nominating him. It was a fierce con-test against the Courier-Journal and all its adherents, see goldites and the friends of Cieveland in firm array. But the platform written by Jo Blackburn he platform written by Jo was presented by him and supported by his speech, and the convention overwhelmingly supported him. It was known that Jo was for the new constitution, also, and the other fel-lows were against it. Jo is Senator for which the clouds brought to that locality and greatly increased the intensity of the storm. The amount of the precipitation was the greatest in the vicinity of operation. We will continue to make tests as to the density of the atmosphere so that the bombs may be adapted to meet every possible condition. When sufficiently satisfactory upon these and aimilar points a decisive experiment six years. He marches along with the progress of the times, and aids and leads the views of the best classes in Kentucky and in the Democratic ranks. ALEXIS IN PARIS. How He Dodged a Big Popular Wel-

PARIS, Aug. 11.—|By Cable and Asociated Press.] There is scarcely any doubt that the non-arrival here yester day of Grand Duke Alexis was en trely due to his disinctination to be the recipient of the enthusiastic wel-come which the citizens of Paris had prepared for him. The crowd learned that he would not arrive yesterday, but they did not learn when he would that he would not arrive yesterday, but they did not learn when he would reach Paris, and, consequently, when the train in which he traveled came into the station this morning, no one was present, officially or unofficially, to receive him. As he reached the platform, he was recognized by a crowd of at least a thousand persons. The greeting they gave the Grand Duke was enthusiastic, he bowing and smiling at the warmness of his welcome, despite the attempt to avoid it. He entered a carriage and was immediately driven to his hotel.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Times this morning publishes a dispatch from its Paris correspondent confirming the reports that the non-arrival of Grand Duke Alexis in Paris yesterday at the time designated was intentional. The dispatch adds that the reason for the change in the Duke's published programme is that Russia wished to show Germany that she is still open to an offer if Germany outbids France.

DR. HONG SOI,

127 S. Broadway, between First and Second Sts. His Wonderful Cures have attracted hundreds. Consultation Free.

Having been sick all my life with stomach, spleon, liver, disease and in head a dizziness it was very hard to sit up. I was recommended to Dr. Hong Fol; after taking his medicines for two weeks I am entirely cured. I wish those who are sick would try Dr. Hong Sol.

February 14.

Having been sick for about one year with kidney and bowel compisint and anxiety of mind and failing to derive any benefit from doctors in the last, I resolved to try Dr. Hong Sol. I find after using his medicine for about two weeks. I am et tirely cured.

December 31, 1891.

One year ago I was taken sick. Dr. Hong Sol cured me of a spleen, liver, stomach and blood disease in four weeks. I have been perfectly healthy and have worked hard ever since. November 23, 1890.

I had been sick over a year with great distress in the stomach and frequent comiting of clear water. Was so weak was not able to be off my bed and was rapidly grown in worse. Nearly all my people are troubled in the same way and have tried a great many physicians. I have been physicians. He was a specific proper of two months. I took when he pronounced me cured. He said he could cure me inside of two months. I took when he pronounced me cured. "Am now strong and well and I freely recommend Dr. May 16th.

Dr. Hong Sol has cured over 2500 people who were afficted with nearly overy from of the various diseases the human body is heir to. Fully 96 per cent of these cases were made of wrecks that could not find relief in the other system of med close as practiced. There are over 3000 kinds of med cine (all herbs and roots and bark) which he imports direct and which have been used in China, 1000 to 5500 years.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11, 1891.

Some small lots of the new crop of driedapricots are coming in. The market in the East, however, has been in such shape that many growers prefer to hold back for a time rather than let their product go at the low figures that prevail at present.

A dispatch from Chicago says: Porter Bros. Company sold four carloads of California fruit today. Bartlett pears of California fruit today. Bartlett pears brought $i@$1.40, some of the stock being very ripe; egg piums,65@80c; Gross prunes, 95c@$1.10; golden drop plums, 89c; Columbia piums, $i@$1.05; purple duane plums, 70c; Crawford peaches, 70c@$1.10; Tuscan cling peaches, 75c; Decker peaches, $1.10; nectarines, $i@$1.25; half crates Muscat grapes, $1.65@$1.80; Japan plums, $1.70.

An Uncalled-for Attack on Chief Glass.
Under the head, "The Nude in Art," the Herald yesterday morning contained what purported to be an account of how Chief Glass had ordered the removal of a picture from the window of a Spring-street optician named Alter on the ground that it was immoral. The picture in ques-tion is a photographic copy, exhibtion is a photographic copy, exhibited through a magnifying glass, of Lagnier's painting, "Sale of Circassian Slave Giris" at the base of the pyramids, and represents a number of nude female and represents a number of nude female figures.

The facts in the case are, in brief, that on Monday complaint was made at the police station by a citizen that an obscene picture was on exhibition on Spring street. As is usual, in case of complaints, the clerk in charge, Mr. Bean, sent out Officer Sanchez and Sergeant Jeffries to investigate the matter. Mr. Alter very courteously, showed the officers the picture, and they told him that they saw nothing objectionable in it. Mr. Alter then stated that it was possible that some of those who congregated on the sidewalk had made remarks offensive to ladies, and he of his own motion, suggested removing it, which he did, substituting in its place a picture of a jackass.

There were no threats, no orders, and the first thing Chief Glass knew of the matter was when he read the assault on him in the morraling apper.

first thing Chief Glass knew of the matter was when he read the assault on him in the morning paper. Yesterday Mr. Alter called at the police station to disclaim any responsibility for the alleged facts in the article, and stated to the Chief that he had never used the language attributed to him in an alleged interview at the close of the article. He also stated that he had written the Herald giving the true facts, which he supposed would be published in justice to the Chief.

Paul and Virginia. |New York Morning Advertiser. | The latest relentless rehabilitator of history is M. Arene, who ruthlessly smashes the romance of "Paul and Virginia." He says that Virginia de la Tour was not shipwrecked and Virginia." He says that Virginia de la Tour was not shipwrecked and drowned, but was saved by Paul, whom she married. The romance is further spoiled by the discovery that the two set up a small shop for the sale of cookies, candies, rum and other sea stores for sailors.

Personals.

A more thoroughly enjoyable enterprise than that just embarked in by a small party of Pasadena gentlemen can scarcely be imagined. The trio of pleasure and profit seekers referred to comprises Rev. C. E. Harris, pastor of the Baptist Church, George Taylor and Mr. Crandall, which will be joined en route by Mr. Merrill of Los Angeles, if that gentleman can possibly arrange his affaira so as to enable him to get away,

The party left yesterday by wagon, and will accomplish the entire journey to the Yosemite without recourse to the slow and highly disagreeable steamcars which are so extensively patronars which are so extensively patronars.

There are several buildings of importance and considerable shapeliness being erected in Pasadena at present.

Another is the commodious structure being built on East Colorado street just east of the Presbyterian Church. It is being built by Mr. Spaulding of Marengo Hall and when finished will be a very complete and finished will be a very complete and comfortably large boarding house or hotel. It will contain twenty-eight comfortably large boarding house or hotel. It will contain twenty-eight rooms and will be heated by gas and lighted by gas and electricity. It will have rooms en suite and its dining room will be constructed of sufficient size to seat from fifty to seventy as occasion requires. It is expected that the Spaulding House will open shout Corober first about October first.

E. S. Frost is superintending the construction of a handsome residence on Marengo avenue just north of Colorado street, to be occupied by himself when completed. It is to be two and a when completed. It is to be two and a half stories high, will contain ten rooms and a bathroom, and will be supplied with a luxury enjoyed by so few here—a cellar. When completed it will contain all the modern improve-ments, including electric lights and a system of electric alarms, gus for heat-ing lighting etc. Its estimated cost ing, lighting, etc. Its estimated cost is $5000. WOMEN EMPLOYED IN THE MINES

Six Thousand Work at British Pit Mouths-One Noble Woman's Labors for Defenseless Women.

[COPYRIGHT 1801-SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Wigan, England, July 28.—The "Pit Brow Lasses" of England and Wales are about 0,000 in number. They are the girls and women of all ages who are employed about the "brows" or mouths of British coal and iron mines.
In former times women were employed

"below grass" in the English mines, and it is scarcely fifty years since, in 1842, all female labor in the underground collieries was put an end to, almost solely by the efrestrictions upon juvenile labor in mines were also imposed a year later. But previous to that time, ever since English coal, iron and tin were first mined, the labor of women was utilized in a manner revolting and horrible beyond description. The pro-hibition of female labor in mines was therefore a wonderful revolution. In Lan-cashire, Yorkshire and Wales it was especially so. Here thousands of girls had found employment in the pits. Their chief labor was as drawers and "thrutchers" for the colliers who cut or dug the coal.

These female workers were chiefly girls from twelve to twenty years of age, and their work of drawing, or "hurrying" as it is called in Yorkshire, then consisted in dragging the coal in boxes on sledges or in trucks on wheels from the "stall" where the collier was at work to the shaft of the pit. Often the miners would be cutting the coal, as is now frequently the case, in a place not two feet in height, and from one to two miles from the only outlet to the world above. Through pitch black pas-sages, too low to permit of their standing upright, and up and down steep inclines they were compelled to crawl, pulling the heavy leads after them or "thrutching"heavy loads after them or "thrutching"— that is, pushing—them from behind. Frequently two or three children were harnessed together to thus pull one or more loaded trucks. Leather belts were put around their waists, and then the little ones were fastened together by a chain passing between their legs from one belt to another, when the children clawed, scrambled and tugged along on their hands and toes after the manner of four fored anitoes after the manner of four footed ani-

The infamous treatment of women in these mines is only known to their maker. The exposure of but the faintest part of all this wrong brought instant legal pro-hibition under the gravest penalties. But there was a large number of women left in every colliery region who clutched at any manner of labor that would sustain life. A few were already working with men and lads at the pit brows. Gradually nearly all of this work, such as dumping the trucks from the "cage" in which they are "brought to surface" from the bottom of the mine shaft, screening the coal and sorting out the slate and stone, loading the coal wagons with the coal ready for the market, and carrying the coal dust to the ovens where it is transformed into coke-came to the lot of women. Theoretically the collier opposed it at the public house and in meetings of his union. Practically, he secretly supported it, for his brother might have been killed in an explosion, and the wife or daughter at the pit brow took up the fight for bread where death had checked it, and his own arm or leg might be picked off some day in the machinery, and his own mother or wife could spring to the spade or screen and do a man's labor for half man's wage.

So for a name for them all, though many were lasses no longer, and I have seen wo-men of fifty and sixty years working nim-bly at the screens, they came to be known as "Pit Brow Lasses," and in time got nearly all the pit mouth labor into their dexterous hands. But, a few years ago, mutterings were heard in those districts like Northumberland and Durham, where no women were employed, against the system. It meant, these fellows who had all the labor themselves, said, the impoverishment of that many men and often that many fam-ilies. Then came a miners' conference at Birmingham, in January of 1885, and a resolution there passed that women should not be allowed to work about the mine was covertly inserted as a clause in the coal mine's regulation amendment bill, which came up for debate in the house of commous in March, 1886.

This was followed by broadsides against women's pit brow labor in The Miners' Journal and other influential trades papers, as well as in a horrifying leader in the London Lancet. Then a vast army of fe-male reform champions, headed by Emily Faithful, who afterward confessed her Fathrul, who alterward confessed her error in the matter, began writing to the press, writing to members of parliament and writing to anybody else who would assist in advertising their interest in the matter, when after the manner of our own matter, much after the manner of our own poble phalanx of the shricking sisterhood and for a time it seemed that the poor pit brow lasses, as the bill was to be acted on the following May, would be given short shrift at the mines.

The wily trade unionists who were can The wily trade unionists who were can nily using the various sentimentalists of England in order to merely give 6,000 men the places to be made vacant by 6,000 women, very shrewdly put forward the unan swerable proposition, where the pit brow lasses were unknown and had no one to speak for them, that their occupation was "unsexing;" that it was so laborlous as to greatly shorten human life; that it, led to greatly shorten human life; that it led to immorality in its sodden, machinelike mix-ing of men and women; that the dress of trousers and short petticoats was indelicate and improper, and that idle and vicious habits were engendered in the husbands o habits were engendered in the husbands of women so employed. "The whole country was astonished and horriged at the discovery of this new blot on Englis't civilization. It accordingly arose unanimously with the sponge, as it were, of government interference in its hand to wipe it out. Then one lone woman also arose. This one lone woman almost unaided defeated the entire efforts of the entire trades unions of England, conquered the opposition or of England, conquered the opposition or indifference of two home secretaries—Childers and Matthews—in succession, molded public opinion to the cause of the pit brow lasses and achieved one of the most remarkable social and labor victories

It is a pleasure to make such a woman better known to Americans. Her name is Mrs. Margaret Park, late mayoress of Wigan. Her husband, deceased in November, 1890, was a leading iron merchant there, and perhaps the most popular individual in Lancashire, the one exception being his wife. He was elected to the mayoralty for five successive terms between 1882 and 1883, the same being counted an extraordinary honor, as Wigan is the oldest borough in Lancashire, having a municipal history dating from the days of enivalry and the crusades. The city is the or woman.

These 6,000 helpless women had no defender. She instantly became one. By clear and truthful presentations of their morality, their healthfulness, their need and that of those dependent upon them, and the injustice of the proposed deprivation of their only means of subsistence. With her ringing HERENCY upon the influ-With her ringing urgency upon the influential women of England of the principle that all-avenues for voluntary labor by women should be expanded rather than restricted, such noted women as Emily Faithful, Lady Latham and Lydia Becker, of woman's rights fame, gave the nit brow Faithful, Lady Latham and Lydia Becker, of woman's rights fame, gave the pit brow woman's cause their support instead of opposition. Intelligently presented facts and clear, cogent logic on the subject were at once supplied to Home Secretary Childers and to members of parliament.

With the enthusiastic co-operation of Vicar Micchell, of Pemberton, an important colliery town pear Wighn where tant colliery town near Wigan, where a large number of women work at the pit brow, great meetings of the pit brow women themselves were held, and these were followed by like great gatherings in Yorkshire and Wales. This class of women are noted for their integrity and bluntness.

"They are jamook right through," as they say in Lancashire. They not only have ready tongues, but there was a, to them, ready tongues, but there was a to them, terrible conviction and necessity behind their rude speech. Petition after petition was dispatched to London. These extraordinary gatherings of extraordinary women, with an extraordinary woman as their leader, interpreter and deliverer, had an electrical effect throughout Britain. A complete revulsion of feeling and conviction was the result.

Not content with this, Mrs. Park insisted that now as the pit brow lasses had been that now as the pit brow lasses had been heard at home they should also be heard in London; within the awful silence of the home secretary's office, if needs be. But Mr. Childers had heard such tales of the "Amazons" in the press, read such tragedies of them in the shilling shockers, and seen much. No Brobdignagian, sooty heroines, armed with shovels, spades, screens, clogs and perhaps picks, for him! The hint of their readiness to swoop down upon him, with what had already been done, and the press of England now being unanimous against the measure, were seemingly sufficient. The prohibitory clause was withdrawn and the pit brow lasses of England and Wales were destined to remain a permanent British institution. But their first victory was a temporary

one. The trades unions, appearing to gra-ciously accept defeat, were only awaiting better opportunity. Just a year later, early in the spring of 1887, word came to Mrs. Park from London that the clause against pit brow women's work was again being pressed, secretly but powerfully, by trades unions and other political influence, and that there was great danger of the government recommending the measure through the then new home secretary, Mr.

Mrs. Park at once determined that the pit brow women should goin person before parliament and the home secretary. She wrote and telegraphed mine owners em-ploying women to call meetings, explain the threatened danger, and ask the women at the mines to elect by ballot two of their number from each mine to join the depu-tation. This was done, the lasses bearing their own expenses by subscription, so that no taint of mine owner's interest could be no taint of mine owner's interest could be charged. A special train was secured, and away sped the unique deputation to the great city.

A continuous ovation greeted them all the way to London. Mrs. Park had meantime secured permission from Secretary Matthews to present the deputation. The women were lodged at the Girls' Club and Home, Soho square. Their arrival created the greatest interest and excitement. Roy alty itself never attracted greater crowds. They were taken to parliament house, and were also granted a peep at the house of lords. The lawmakers of Great Britain were won over in a body.

The next morning the entire London press rang with their praises, pathetically told the story of their toil and denounced those who had threatened the prohibition of their arduous and honest labor. Then came the memorable parade or demon-stration, through Regent street, Oxford street, along Pall, Mall, across St. James' park and Whitehall and on to Westminter hotel, where four of the girls were robed in their odd pit brow costumes.

Then the procession moved on the home office, a million Englishmen cheering them as they went. Here Mrs. Park laid their claims before Mr. Matthews in a few ringing sentences, which literary critics have asserted comprised the briefest yet most splendidly logical and powerful address ever pronounced by an English woman in any cause. Nor were the lasses themselves slow of speech. Their ignorance of the sedate formalities of

The home secretary listened and questioned, finally dismissing the unique depu tation after assurance that they should not be interfered with, and the hope that their representations "would so influence public opinion that they would hear no more in many years of air attempt to interfere with an honest and praise worthy industry." And so the pit brow !asses won. But I have often thought it a pity that some great painter could not have caught this splendid scene, where the hopes of the 6,000 women—whose work and home life! shall describe in a succeeding article—were centered: The home secretary of a mighty government, with all the austerity and insignia of state surrounding him, reserved, puzzled, yet thoroughly kindly; one woman, accompanied by famous women, lords and commoners, standing before him as petitioner, her face—the prototype of that node one the artist has given us in Isabella before whom Columbus is urging his cause—beaming with infinite kindness and subduing glances upon her irrepressible charges, yet half turned in grave respect and apprehension to the one who could grant or defeat their aims; and, to complete the picture, a crowd of rosy cheeked, buxom pit brow lasses, with heads craned eagerly forward, their sparkling eyes wide with wonder and alert attention, lips half parted as if to "speaal" of." on the slighest pretext, and every one of the sturdy wenches with muscles tense with anxiety, and the whole figure, in posing and attitude, unconsciously the embodiment of defiance and defense.

The old tamale man had a lively conflagration, his cooking apparatus hav-ing got out of fix. Some boys went to the rescue and made the matter worse. One of them kicked the cap of gasoline when the burning fluid was sprinkled over the old man, and he began to cut the pigeon-wing in a manner that would have driven a champien Indian war-dancer mad with envy. After the war-dancer mad with envy. After the gent, who is a soldier, was extinguished he was sent out to the Home for repairs. His chief grievance, however, is that he had invested all of his available cash in the outlit, and now he is burned out. As the amount of the loss is small, his friends will perhaps help him to start again when he gets all right.

A man who was working on the county road up the coast was "mon-keying" with a giant cartridge Monday when went it went off, tearing away part of his hand and lacerating his face and arm. Dr. Place, who attended the unfortunate man, could not give his name. He was sent to the hospital.

Yesterday there was an unusually lively stir on North Beach in front of tent No.13. It seems that two boys were chasing a hungry-looking little cur and screaming mad-dog at the top of their voices. As the "purp" was foaming at the mouth and a little erratic in his movements, there was a general panic movements, there was a general panic among the women and children. H. M. Thomson of tent No. 13 seeing the mad canne take refuge in his kitchen, at once got his pistol and dispatched the animal. Then a young man named Kiff, son of L. W. Kiff, who was the owner of the dog, began a fusillade on Mr. Thomson with some fiery epithets, and Thomson beran to practice the manly art on with some fiery epithets, and Thomson began to practice the manly art on young Kiff, tumbling him onto the sand. Kiff, senior, then put in an appearance, and Thomson found himself sandwiched between two men that were, perhaps, madder than the dog, and each had a knife. Thomson then called on his legs for their best service, while Mrs. O'Brien, mother-in-law of Thomson, and Samuel Foy interfered while Mrs. O'Brien, mother-in-law of Thomson, and Samuel Foy interfered and the battle ended. Judge Twichell fined Thomson $6 for shooting in the town limits, and the Kiffs are under bonds to answer for assault with deadly weapons. This light is in line with a series of similar conflicts that perhaps lead back to the conflicts that perhaps lead back to the time when the animals were all turned loose on the peak of Mount Ararat—all about a dog; and the more worthless the dog the harder the fight. the dog the harder the fight.

The election Monday resulted in favor of establishing a high school in Santa Monica by a vote of 59 to 5. This was a small vote, but as it was generally believed that the high school would carry, many did not think it worth while to go to the polls. The opposition was perhaps about all represented. The full vote of the town is about 300.
